Dear Fouad Dababneh,

In response to your request concerning AA Oil Site, I am unable to give the detailed information as requested. My short tenure as President of the company in the early 1990's was almost 25 years ago, and I have no personal knowledge of doing business with this site. During my time as president of the company, the company was close to bankruptcy, and my time was consumed with trying to avoid that outcome; however, the owner, David Goldman, of Goldman Financial, decided not to put together a plan to come out of Chapter 11. At that point, everyone in the company was terminated.

I know the company was sold; however, and I have no idea what happened to all of the records that were on file. I would assume David Goldman would have taken custody, but I am not sure. In addition, Randy Moore, who was the CFO, may have some information regarding this company if Broderick had made payments at any time to AA Oil Site.

Broderick did have a person on staff that handled all environmental issues. I do not remember his name. It has been so long, again I am not sure if either the CFO or environmental person are still living.

Sorry I can't be more help, but since so much time has passed, I am almost 79 years old and now dealing with NON RESPONSIVE
